"Helping Hands" Campaign

Celebrating 11 years of Compassionate and Ethical Adoption

Dear Bright Futures' Families and Friends,

Last year just before the holidays one of our birth families needed help. They needed help to plan an adoption, but they also needed help to provide a joyous holiday for the children they were parenting. We reached out to our alumni families and were overwhelmed by the clothes, toys, books, furniture and other items donated by our families.

When expectant parents come to Bright Futures looking for help and support as they consider adoption, they often need emotional and financial support. Bright Futures provides both. We talk with expectant parents about all of their parenting options and help them sort through which option will be best for them and for their child. We also help them find a safe place to live, food to eat, clothes to wear and health insurance. Our support to birth families does not end when a baby is placed, it is only just beginning. We continue to support all of our families as they live in connected, positive, child-centered open adoptions.

As we approach the holidays this year, we ask for your support to continue to provide counseling and ongoing support to expectant parents and birth parents. We all know the saying "many hands make light work" and strive this year for many of our friends and families to participate in our "Helping Hands Campaign" (please see reverse side for more information). Your donation will help Bright Futures continue to connect big hands and little hands and create lifelong connections for parents and children. Please give as generously as you can!

With gratitude and warm wishes for a joyous Holiday Season, Karen

A program of the Robert F. Kennedy Children's Action Corps

Here's how it works:

1. Below is a pledge sheet. Please ask ten people who love you and your family to "lend a hand" to the Helping Hands Campaign by making a donation.
2. If you do not wish to ask others to give, feel free to give any amount that feels comfortable for you.

With your help we can reach our fundraising goal of $10,000!

Please make checks payable to: "RFK Children's Action Corps"
